

New Specialty Act at 2022 Stonyford Rodeo: Tomas Garcilazo, Charro Roping Artist

Tomas Garcilazo, a native of Mexico City, was introduced at an early age to his family heritage and tradition of "La Charrería" which is a skill performed through the generations only by the Mexican Charro. Charros take extreme pride in their highly developed horsemanship and roping abilities. Tomas, third generation Charro, has devoted his life to sharing Mexico's National Sport La Charrería with the world.

Tomas has performed throughout Europe, Canada, the U.S. and Mexico. He has appeared on Broadway in New York City and toured the U.S. with the Will Rogers Follies, an acclaimed six-time Tony Award winning show. He was a featured performer for two years at Disney's Wild West Show in Paris, France plus the Buffalo Bill Wild West Show touring Holland and Germany. Tomas has performed numerous times for Mexico's Presidents along with guest performances at the U.S. White House and Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. Tomas resides in southern California and continues to share his legacy with audiences at rodeos, stock shows, horse shows and equine events internationally.

He's won many awards, including the PRCA 2018, 2013, 2012 and 2007 Specialty Act of the Year award at the Las Vegas National Finals Rodeo and most recently TV talent show winner of the 'Go Big Show' season-one featured on TBS channel. Tomas Garcilazo's proficiency as a skilled horseman and rope artist defines him as one of the finest Charros presenting La Charrería today.
